During the past year the records of the association have been officially classified and put in tangible order, so that now the contestants know what mark they have to better. From the records broken and the number of meets held, it can be noticed that the athletes have been increasing in skill, and that more interest is being taken in the meets. The prospect of the 1910-11 season is the rightest of any heretofore. Many indoor games have already been booked. it is certain that the lovers of the track will be greatly interested in the great tance, 12 ft. 3 ir of the following: Virginia, Georgetown, 16% in George Washington, Johns Hopkins, and the Naval Academy, who will compete against the strong Northern colleges. It is reported that many changes will be made in the official records during the coming year, and also that some of the hampions of 1910 will find that their places have been taken by others in their particular events.

A BALE OF HAY.

Some bards their harpstrings deftly strike, and sing of roses and the like; of coral isles and starlit seas and birds whose plumage gilds the breeze, but when I sing at close of day, my song is of a bale of hay. O wondrous bale, that takes me back across the years on dreamy track to sunny fields where strong men wrought-the fields that idlers never sought. With wringing raiment on their backs they shaped their windrows and their stacks; I see and hear it all again, the cheery voices of the men, the thirsty with uptilted jugs, the horses straining in their tugs, the mower's clanking, raucous roar, the glad march home when day was o'er. And when the hay was cured and bright, and aptly named the mule's delight, they fed it to the press and made the bale for which my harp is played. Each handful of this fragrant hay suggests a long, long summer day of honest, wise productive toil, of wrestling with the parent soil. No dreamers made this bulky bale; no triffing men or poets pale; no loafers placed the wire around, no lily fingers raked the ground, but men of might were there that day, and wrought to build that bale of hay. And so with lilting roundelay do I embalm the bale of hav. WALT MASON.
